

Los Angeles County Department of Public Health's CalFresh Healthy Living Program

CalFresh Healthy Living, nationally known as the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program Education (SNAP-Ed), improves the nutritional health of low-income Californians by providing access to nutrition education, physical activity education, and leadership towards healthy community initiatives. The Los Angeles County Department of Public Health is partnering with multi-sector organizations across Los Angeles County to provide a comprehensive public health approach to improve access to healthy food and prevent diet-related chronic diseases among Los Angeles County's low-income families.

Funded Partners

Early Childhood Education

- The Children's Collective Inc.

School Districts

- Glendale Unified School District
- Lawndale Elementary School District
- Pasadena Unified School District

Healthcare Clinics

- Asian Pacific Health Care Venture, Inc.
- Northeast Valley Health Corporation
- Venice Family Clinic

Food Banks/Pantries

- Antelope Valley Partners for Health
- Los Angeles Regional Food Bank

Produce Distribution

- Asian Pacific Islander Forward Movement
- Los Angeles Regional Food Bank
- Seeds of Hope, Episcopal Diocese of Los Angeles
- Social Justice Learning Institute

Nutrition Education and Physical Activity

- Active San Gabriel Valley
- Adventist Health Glendale Foundation
- California State University – Northridge
- Food Access Los Angeles
- National Health Foundation
- The Whole Child

